THINGS WORTH SEEING

Forbes Robertson comes to the Shubert with "The Passing of the ird Floor Back," Mr. Jerome's play of the regeneration of the sor- l and selfish dwellers in a genteel boarding-house. It has more n a year to its credit in London and New York and more than 500 rformances in other cities and countries.

The attraction at the Tremont is a comic opera, entitled "The ring Maid," bringing to this city in the new capacity of a star, aristie Macdonald. The piece is an adaptation from the German.

"The Cowboy and the Thief," at the Grand Opera House tells of e love affair of a beautiful cowboy and a pretty Western girl and e attempt to shield a brother who has strayed from the straight ad.

"Twelfth Night," is revived at the Castle Square, with Mr. Craig Malvolio and Miss Young as Viola.

The Boston Arena enters on its second week of the season, for the st week's business has been big. The great ice-making plant of the rena makes the ice as hard as though it were zero weather. Many ckey games are scheduled for the coming winter between New York, ew Haven and Boston Teams. Full announcement of the same will ppear in this magazine. (Note page 4.)

THINGS WORTH SEEING

AT THE BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

On Monday, Dec. 12th, "Madama Butterfly" will be presented with Carmen Melis in the role of Butterfly. Riccardo Martin of the Metropolitan Opera House will make his debut as Pinkerton. Jeska Swartz will sing Suzuki, Grace Fisher, Kate Pinkerton, and La Zia. Ruby Savage will be La Cugina. Ramon Blanchart will sing Sharpless.

The first performance of Laparra's "La Habanera," in French, in America, will be given on Wednesday evening, Dec. 14th, with Feiy Freyne the French soprano as Pilar, George Baklanoff as Ramon, Albert Lassalle, as Pedro, Jose Mardones as Le Vieux, and Leo Devaux as Un fiance Aragonais and first Compare. The opera "Cavalleria Rusticana" will follow with Carmen Melis as Santuzza, Janka Chaolinska as Lola, Anne Roberts as Mamma Lucia, Riccardo Martin as Turiddu, and Adolfo Fornari as Alfio. Roberto Moranzoni will conduct.

The regular Friday evening performance will take place on Thursday evening, Dec. 15th, and will be "La Boheme," in Italian, with Mme. Nellie Melba as Mimi. This will be Mme. Melba's first appearance with the Boston Opera Company.

The opera to be presented at the Saturday matinee will be "Otello," in Italian, by Verdi. Giovanni Zenatello will make his debut as Otello, George Baklanoff will sing Iago, and Jose Mardones will be Lodovico. Carmen Melis will sing Desdemona, and Maria Cleasbens will sing Emilia. Others in the cast will be Ernesto Giaccono, C. Strucsseo, Attilio Pulcini, and Frederick Huddy. Arnaldo Conti will conduct.

Saturday evening, Dec. 17th, at popular prices will be given "Rigoletto," in Italian, by Verdi. Lydia Lipkowska will take the part of Gilda, Florecro Constantino will be the Duke, and Carlo Galaffi will sing Rigoletto. Mardones will take the part of Sparafucile, and Elvira Iveroni will sing Maddalena. Others in the cast will be Ruby Savage, Grace Fisher, Jeska Swartz, Giuseppe Perini, Attilio Pulcini, F. Huddy and Ernesto Giaccono. Wallace Goodrich will conduct.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew come to the Majestic Theatre this week in their great comedy, "Billy." This piece has had a very long and successful run in New York. With that as a criterion and Mr. Drew's popularity in Boston, ought to draw big audiences during their engagement.

At the Castle Square for the first time here is Edward Peple's sentimental and humorous play, "The Love Route."

Thomas E. Shea returns to the Grand Opera House in "The Bells," "Dr. Jeykll and Mr. Hyde," and a new play of today, "A Self-Made Man."

THINGS WORTH SEEING

At the Boston Opera House, "Carmen," is presented on Monday night and on Thursday evening, "I Pagliacci," in Italian, followed by the Imperial Russian Dancers with the celebrated European dancer, Anna Pavlowa, with a complete ballet in "The Arabian Nights." Miss Pavlowa will repeat this performance on Friday night also.

Ruth St. Denis, the dancer, begins a two weeks' engagement at the Hollis Street this week. Her dances are Egyptian, still more diversified and spectacular than presented by her on former visits to this city. A company of young women assist her, and also the Balalaika Orchestra of Russian players and exotic Russian music upon unusual Russian instruments.

A familiar Western melodrama, "Through Death Valley," comes to the Grand Opera House.

"Jack and the Beanstalk," opens at the Castle Square on Friday evening, December 23, for the Christmas holidays.

For the first four days of the coming week the Castle Square Theatre will be closed to the public in order that preparations may be made for a complete staging of this remarkable musical extravaganza. "Jack and the Beanstalk" was originally performed by the Boston Corps of Cadets some dozen years ago, and it was such a huge success that it was immediately put upon the professional stage, and it has ever since remained one of the most popular shows of its kind. Its authors, R. A. Barnet, who wrote the words and lyrics, and A. B. Sloane, who wrote the music, are unrivalled in their line, and they are both Bostonians.

For Mr. Craig's production of "Jack and the Beanstalk" he is preparing new stage settings, the costumes will be brilliant and novel, and the music will be played by an enlarged orchestra under the leadership of Joseph Marr. In the cast will be Mary Young as Jack, Donald Meek as the Fairy Queen, George Hassell as Old King Cole, Wilfred Young as Sinbad the Sailor, Bert Young as Haitewurk, Walter Walker as the Giant, Florence Shirley as Little Miss Muffett, Marie Curtis as Mistress Mary, and Kate Ryan as Old Mother Hubbard. The box office of the Castle Square will remain open all next week for the sale of seats for this production.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the first times here and at the Majestic this week is "Madame X," the Parisian melodrama of a dissolute mother defended unexpectedly by an upright and unwitting son in an exciting trial scene. Dorothy Donnelly acts the mother with a great deal of feeling and ability.

Miss Genee, one of the most accomplished dancers of our time is seen in a musical play, entitled "The Bachelor Belles," at the Boston.

Miss Bessie McCoy appears as a waitress in a musical play, "The Echo," at the Colonial and for the first time in this city. The scene lies in the White Mountains during the summer season.

To the Tremont comes "The Girl in the Taxi," so well liked in the city last spring when presented for a long run.

The Globe has a play for the first time here, "The Rosary," a sentimental presentation of the wholesome and homely influences of the Roman priesthood.

A new Western melodrama of a girl's courage to a righteous end, "The Queen of the Outlaws' Camp," is at the Grand Opera House.

At the Boston Opera House the offerings for the week are: Monday, "Il Trovatore;" Wednesday, "Aida;" Friday, "Carmen;" Saturday afternoon, "L'enfant Prodigue," followed by Russian dancers, and Saturday evening, "La Traviata."

THINGS WORTH SEEING

David Warfield appears at the Hollis Street this week in "The eturn of Peter Grimm," a play written expressly for him by David elasco. The piece is concerned with the pledge of two close friends iat the one who may die first shall return to earth in bodily or in piritual presence, or in both, if he may. Grimm so dies, so keeps the edge, and the large part of the play traverses his earthly experiences. rimm is Mr. Warfield's part.

At the Shubert, Olga Nethersole presents "Mary Magdalen." The ay follows the passion of a young Roman for Mary, the call of Jesus o her, her following of Him and the proffer of the Roman to save Him rom death at the price that Mary will not pay.

To the Tremont comes Percy MacKaye's fantastic play, "The carecrow." Vindictive witchcraft transforms a scarecrow into a man, ives him a Mephistophelian "familiar," and sets both to bring con- ision upon a Puritan Salem. In the end awakened love makes the carecrow avow deceit, and although he must die, die honestly, even obly.

For the first time here at the Park is "Arsene Lupin," a play of the affles of widely read French romances. It traverses his duel with a tective through serious contretemps to a farcical ending.

The Grand Opera House has the annual return of "East Lynne."

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Sarah Bernhardt appears at the Boston this week in the following repertoire: Monday evening, "L'Aiglon;" Tuesday matinee, "Camille;" Tuesday evening, "Jeanne d'Arc;" Wednesday evening, "Camille;" Thursday matinee, "L'Aiglon;" Thursday evening, "La Tosca;" Friday evening, "Sapho;" Saturday matinee, "Jeanne d'Arc," and Saturday evening, "La Sorciere."

To the Shubert comes Marie Cahill in "Judy Forgot." It is a cheerful musical comedy, elaborately staged.

There are thirteen scenes in "The Follies of 1910," which comes to the Tremont. In the organization are 150 entertainers including many favorites.

A new melodrama of the North and South, entitled "At the Cross Roads," is the attraction at the Grand Opera House.

David Warfield in "The Return of Peter Grimm," continues at the Hollis Street; Bessie McCoy in "The Echo," at the Colonial; "Madame X" at the Majestic; "Jack and the Beanstalk," at the Castle Square, and "Arsene Lupin," at the Park.

At the Boston Opera House is presented "Aida," Monday; Russian Dancers, Tuesday; "The Pipe of Desire," and "L'Enfant Prodigue," Wednesday; "Rigoletto," Friday; "Carmen," Saturday afternoon, and "Tosca," Saturday evening.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Memorial exhibition of oils and water colors by John La Farge. Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art a special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both of recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the second and final week at the Boston, Sarah Bernhardt presents La Samaritaine," Monday; "Camille," Tuesday and Thursday afternoons; Jeanne d'Arc," Tuesday and Thursday; "L'Aiglon," Wednesday and Saturday evenings; "Phedre," Friday, and "La Tosca," Saturday afternoon.

"The Dollar Princess" is presented here for the first time at the Colonial. The play is light, polite and amusing, telling of the quest of an heiress. It is decorated with dextrous Viennese music and acted by Donald Brian of "The Merry Widow" and a capable cast.

At the Castle Square, "Hamlet," is revived by John Craig and his stock company.

The Grand Opera House offers "The White Captive," a melodrama of Indians, cowboys, "Easterners," wireless telegraphy and airships.

The offerings at the Boston Opera House are: "La Traviata," Monday; "The Girl of the Golden West," Tuesday; "Il Barbiere Di Siviglia," Wednesday; "Aida," Friday.

"Madam X" at the Majestic Theatre continues doing a tremendous business. The orchestra is still playing under the stage to give more room for seats, and from all appearances will be playing there for some time to come.

Marie Cahill has a very cute, clean, and quite up-to date musical show. The piece has plenty of snap, the dialogue is good, the jokes clean, the music of the kind that will stay with you long after the show is over. Miss Cahill's songs, "Good Morning Judge," "Whoop la, la," "The Turkish Love Song," bid fair to become very popular. The Shubert Theatre will without question, do a big business during the rest of Miss Cahill's engagement.

"The Follies of 1910" continue at the Tremont and will be reviewed in the next issue.

David Warfield still holds sway at the Hollis to fair business considering the high class attractions that are playing elsewhere in town.

The "Rosary" at the Globe is doing a wonderful business, and without doubt is a wonderful show and should not be missed by anyone.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

A new musical play, "The Balkan Princess," comes to the Shubert is week for its initial presentation in this city. Last Spring it was opular in London for its lightness, its romantic sentiment, its humor, s pleasant tunes and its pictorial setting. Louise Gunning plays the incess who must wed; Robert Warwick, the tenor lover who first sists and then succumbs; and Herbert Corthell and Joseph W. Herrt, the "comic relief."

An unusual piece is found in "The Maestro's Masterpiece," at the ston, a play of music and musicians by Edward Locke, who wrote he Climax." The play is a combination made up of fragments many operas, familiar and unfamiliar, and the company has many actised singers.

"My Friend from Dixie," is presented by a Negro company at the rand Opera House.

At the Boston Opera House the repertoire for the week includes he Pipe of Desire," preceded by "I Pagliacci," Monday night, and armen," Wednesday night.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For a single week, Mrs. Fiske is at the Hollis Street in "Becky Sharp," hich she has kept in her repertory for ten years. The piece was written l Langdon Mitchell from Thackeray's "Vanity Fair." The part of Becky rets half way her finesse of characterization, her lighter manner, and her sic and elastic abilities as a comedienne.

W. H. Crane in his new play, "U. S. Minister Bedloe," comes to the ırk for the first time in this city. George S. Ade wrote it and it gives ?. Crane the part of a "substantial citizen" of a middle Western city, ıddenly shifted into the turmoil of a revolution in Latin America and the bwilderment of Latin American manners and points of view.

"Rigoletto," is the Monday night attraction at the Boston Opera House; ıdnesday, "The Girl of the Golden West;" Thursday, "The Children of thlehem;" Friday, "Faust;" Saturday Matinee, "Hansel and Gretel," fol-lwed by "Der Geizige Ritter," and Saturday evening, "Carmen."

The offering at the Grand Opera House is "Cripple Creek."

BIG BOAT AND ENGINE SHOW

There will be an immense gathering in Mechanics Building, Monday ening, January 30th, to attend the opening of the Eighth Annual Motor at and Engine Show under the auspices of the New England Engine and at Association. Such a complete line of hulls was never before on ex-hibition at any one time and there will be no difficulty for the man of lited means to pick out the boat he wants as the line is most extensive d the prices are right.

A special feature will be the famous "Bi'er Fox," which has been ecially arranged for with the owners, Messrs. M. B. and A. G. Dean of wport, Ky. This boat holds the record for long distance endurance es covering a distance of 1551 miles, Cincinnati to New Orleans, in a tal elapsed running time of 53 hours, 25 minutes and 58 seconds. In nection with this celebrated boat there will also be on exhibition an ght cylinder 1911 Model Fox De Luxe Motor.

An aero ice boat will be another novelty shown and will no doubt peal to many who enjoy ice sailing. The above are a few of the many ıvelties that will be shown.

Interior decorators have been at work for some time past and the sult of their efforts will be sure to please the most fastidious. Music ıll be furnished by a first class orchestra and everything will be done to ke this exhibition the very best of its kind ever held in Boston or else-here.

BOSTON THEATRE

THE MAN YOU ALL KNO

JULIAN ELTINGE

In "THE FASCINATING WIDOW"

THINGS WORTH SEEING

JULIAN ELTINGE AT THE BOSTON

Close study of women, their many little mannerisms that are so ...inctively feminine, has enabled Julian Eltinge to practice a well-...n perfect deception on the public,—for he is just a plain, ordinary ...n, and a gentleman in the strictest sense of the word. His work in ...he Fascinating Widow," which is at the Boston Theatre for a short ...t, is quite likely to give his audience a most agreeable surprise with ...i wonderful artistry in femine characterizations. He will surely ...ve a sensation in this city, and become the talk of the town,—as he ...a elsewhere in this country and in Europe. Eltinge's performance is ...arvel of art and stands alone in his particular line. He is on a par ...vi David Warfield, as a character actor, and is rapidly becoming ...siamous as that sterling actor. It is difficult for an audience to de-...enine whether Eltinge as he appears on the stage, is really a man or a ...man. "The Fascinating Widow" is the work of Otto Hauerbach, ...vo has one of the biggest musical successes in America to his credit ...n "Madame Sherry."

STYLE AND FASHION SHOW.

The National Style Show to be held in Horticultural Hall, Feb. ...5t to 11th, inclusive, will be the first affair of the kind ever held by ...h Ladies' Tailors' Association of America in Boston and will serve ...chow the advanced season's models and designs as would be possible ...no other way. The contention that America has superceded Paris in ...riginality of design and at much less cost in production will have ...verification at this time, as practically all the leading designers in the ...country will be represented with models. New York will send over ...enty exhibits by as many artists in that line, as will also Chicago ...a the other large cities. In fact, so many have signified their inten-...tion of exhibiting that Horticultural Hall should be the Mecca of every ...woman in Greater Boston, as even those who are by force of circum-...stances obliged to use home-made articles can get ideas that are bound ...to improve their wardrobe.

BOSTON THEATRE

JULIAN ELTINGE

In "THE FASCINATING WIDOW"

THINGS WORTH SEEING

John Drew in "Smith," at the Hollis Theatre is entertaining large udiences nightly.

Sam Bernard at the Shubert is making 'em laugh in the musical play, He Came From Milwaukee."

Dorothy Donnelly in "Madame X," at the Majestic is turning them way at every performance, and bids fair to remain there for some time o come.

So great has been the demand for seats at the Globe Theatre which ill has "The Rosary" for its attraction, that the management had to ay matinees daily for a short time to catch up with advance sale.

Bicknell and Watson and Bert Williams, and the rest of the big vorites are still making good at the Tremont in the "Follies of 1910."

The Boston Theatre the past week has been packed nightly with ilian Eltinge in "The Fascinating Widow."

Julian Eltinge is the answer to Sylvia Parkhurst and the rest of the militants." He is also a sort of long awaited Joshua, who is to lead the ale crusade. Suffragism has reached a point where many British and rench writers have seriously called upon some man to lead the poor edragled "he" from the bondage of the broomstick and the rolling pin. hey argue that it's no longer the woman who should be looking out for eir rights, but the man. Masculinity is doomed to petticoat rule, say ese wiseacres. They point to the "wimmen" policeman, coachmen, rmers, financiers, and best of all to the stage, for it is in the theatre at the "movement" has made its principal advance. A woman couldn't go side a theatre four centuries ago; now she completely dominates it. hat are mere men going to do about it? Julian Eltinge winks his eye id appears in "The Fascinating Widow" and the people throng to see him the Boston Theatre. The Eltinge engagement is a limited one as ar-ngements are being made to take the clever character actor to London rectly after the Boston engagement.

BOSTON THEATRE

THE MAN YOU ALL KNOW

JULIAN ELTINGE

In "THE FASCINATING WIDOW"

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Julian Eltinge in "The Fascinating Widow," at the Boston Theatre is king the hit of his career. The crowded houses of the past week re- ods one of the old Metropolitan Opera days, when seats at the Boston re at a premium. Mr. Eltinge and his able manager, A. H. Woods, re ignored all the old stereotyped methods of success, theatrically speak- g. The average manager and star's idea of "show success" is to whip together and break-it-in in some small town then straight for Broadway. t Mr. Eltinge and his "Fascinating Widow" has taken just the opposite w with the result that he has today one of the prettiest, cleanest and st successful shows that has been produced for many, many seasons. . Eltinge has played to big audiences in most of the largest cities in the ited States and his present engagement, which terminates March 4th the Boston, is theatrically speaking, a "knock-out." He plays two weeks Philadelphia, lays off one week to prepare for his London engagement ich is for five weeks, then back, back to New York and Broadway to e 'em off their feet, at the end of the season, the very spot where all ier successful stars have opened to get their reputation. "You can't t this much." Some wise managers ought to think this one over.

Following a long run in New York City, "The Commuters," comes to t Park this week. It is an amusing play of lightly sketched humors of suburban life and of the consequences of urban and hilarious intimacies. le original cast of the piece in New York comes with it.

"The Fourth Estate," the "news paper play" that made some stir in w York last winter by its scenes in the offices and the composing room a yellow journal and the contest it unfolds between some of the staff al social and advertising influences, is the attraction at the Shubert this ek, appearing for the first time in this city.

A strong play, "The Spendthrift," depicting the domestic consequences feminine extravagance, is seen in the this city for the first time, at the Hollis Street. Edmund Breese is a member of the company.

JULIAN ELTINGE

In "THE FASCINATING WIDOW"

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Julian Eltinge at the Boston is pleasing large audiences and this s his last week. So great has been the demand for seats he has had o play extra matinees the past week and will continue to so in this is last week.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW

The greatest of all Automobile Shows will open Saturday night, March 4th. So great has been the demand for space in the Mechanics Building that the management has had to take over Horticultural Hall so in reality it is two great shows instead of one for the one dmission.

"The Girl of My Dreams," comes to the Colonial for the first ime in this city this week. As a sentimental American musical play t has become popular in other cities. The music is by the makers of "The Three Twins," and John Hyams and Lelia McIntyre have the hief parts.

At the Castle Square is a revival of the high spirited comedy of oldiers and warfare, entitled "Arms and the Man."

The Grand Opera House offers a stirring melodrama, "The Blind Girl."

PINE FOREST INN

Summerville, S. C.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Miss Billie Burke appears at the Hollis Street this week in a new play, entitled "Suzanne." The scenes are laid in Brussels and all its characters, with two exceptions, are Belgians. It gives Miss Burke the part of a young girl who has her way with her socially aspiring household and makes it lead her to her chosen suitor.

Another new play, "Green Stockings," is brought to the Tremont by Miss Margaret Anglin. The story, the scene of which is laid in rural England, relates to the affairs of a family of girls. Of marriageable age, these girls are concerned in the absorbing interest of becoming engaged or being joined in marriage, so far as regards three of the four. There is an old English custom, still followed and carefully observed in many parts of the British Isles, whereby unmarried girls are compelled to wear green stockings at the weddings of their sisters.

"Naughty Marietta," a comic opera in which Mlle. Trentini, famous as a dainty grand opera prima donna, has been appearing with much success, comes to the Boston.

For the first time on any stage the John Craig Company presents "The End of the Bridge," at the Castle Square. The drama won the prize of $500 offered by Mr. Craig for the best play written by a Harvard or Radcliffe student.

The attraction at the Globe is "The Light Eternal," a spectacular drama dealing with the persecution of the early Christians by the pagans of Rome.

A sensational melodrama, "Caught in Mid-Ocean," which is based upon the latter part of the life of Dr. Crippen is offered at the Grand Opera House for the first time on any stage.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Memorial Exhibition of oils and water colors by Winslow Homer. Closing March 1.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Mr. John Craig and his charming wife Miss Mary Young, have struck, (from a theatrical point of view) a gold mine in the new play, The End of the Bridge," by Florence Lincoln, a (Radcliff Girl). So great has been the demand for seats that Mr. Craig has had to hold it over for the second week; don't miss this little show as it is very amusing especially the "Boy" in the show.

Thomas E. Shea returns to the Grand Opera House this week in repertoire that has been made popular by him everywhere. For the opening of the two weeks' engagement he presents the thrilling religious drama, "The Soldier of the Cross." On Wednesday and Saturday nights Mr. Shea presents "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde."

Museum of Fine Arts

Week-day Docent Service

Free to all

The officers of the Museum have united in offering to act as Docents, or companions to visitors in the galleries, on one day in each week, so far as their other work will permit, each within the limits of his own department, as follows:—

Monday, Prints; Tuesday, Classical Art; Wednesday, Chinese and Japanese Art; Thursday, Egyptian Art; Friday, Western Art; Saturday morning, Pictures.

For appointments apply by letter to the Secretary of the Museum. Applicants will receive card giving the day and hour of the appointment, and entitling the holder to the attendance of the officer named on the card within his department for one hour from the time stated. The number of persons in one party is limited to twenty-five. Those holding cards of introduction to the Docents are not exempt from the usual admission fee to the Museum.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Miss Frances Starr appears at the Hollis this week for the first ime here in "The Easiest Way," Eugene Walter's remarkable play of weak-willed woman who struggles to keep herself in honest life and ecumbs to temperament and circumstances.. It is said that no Ameri-an play compares with it in sustained power of dramatic narrative.

For the first time on any metropolitan stage, "Mademoiselle Rosita," presented at the Shubert. Fritzi Scheff has the leading part, and the enes and personages are Parisian.

At the Grand Opera House there is a revival of "Why Smith Left ome."

Margaret Anglin is seen in a single performance at the Tremont, riday afternoon, in Julia Ward Howe's "Hippolytus."

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Exhibition of recent acquisitions of objects of Chinese and Japanese Art.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "The Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable pictures of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

JOSEPH C. MILLER

President of the Famous 101 Ranch of Bliss, Okla. and Arenic Director of the Wild West Show which is coming to the Boston Arena for a week, beginning next Saturday afternoon, April 8th, at 2.15.

You will confer a favor by mentioning THIS WEEK IN BOSTON making purchases from advertisers.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Richard Carle appears at the Tremont this week in a musical farce ritten by himself, entitled, "Jumping Jupiter." The piece is an excellent hicle for his drawling humors. Edna Wallace Hopper leads the company.

"A Fool There Was," is the title of the play at the Boston in which bert Hilliard as a lawyer is wrecked body, mind and estate by the mpire" woman. The piece was last seen here a year and half ago.

The Grand Opera House offers the annual attraction, "McFadden's ats," revised and augmented.

At the Castle Square, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," is presented each after- on and "The End of the Bridge," in the evening.

The Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Boston Opera House esents "Lohengrin."

BOSTON ARENA

The real life of ranch, range, round-up and Indian camp will be re- oduced in all its vivid and romantic picturesqueness by actual, living tures of the frontier when the 101 Ranch Wild West exhibits at The ston Arena for a week beginning next Saturday afternoon, April 8.

The organization comes direct from the Miller Bros.' ranch at Bliss, kla., the largest and most famous of all the world. There are three of e Miller Bros—Joseph C., Zack T. and George L.—and they are the ide and wonder of Oklahoma and all of the other great southwest. heir land holdings embrace more than thirty square miles. They are rvivors of the days of the buffalo drive and the emigrant trail, and are oving in these days of crowded cities and contracted commercialism that e stock industry, on a gigantic scale, is just as immensely profitable oday as ever in the history of the country.

The 101 Ranch has remained intact in all its vastness, despite the flux of the small farmer into Oklahoma. Regulation quarter-section omesteads completely encircle its area, but the 101 Ranch still remains rgely unblocked and roads end and the trails begin there. Several tribes f Indians, living as primitively as in the old days, have there homes on he great tract and the buffalo wanders at will. Incidentally, the Millers wn more than one-tenth of the present day number of this one distinc- ve American animal.

The 101 Ranch Wild West is only four years old, but it is already he largest traveling amusement undertaking of its character in the world. here will be afternoon and evening performances and a frontier street arade on Saturday morning.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 . m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating th arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "The Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both among recent additions to the collection.

JOSEPH C. MILLER

President of the Famous 101 Ranch of Bliss, Okla. and Arenic Director of the Wild West Show which opened a week's engagement at the Boston Arena, on Saturday, April 8.

You will confer a favor by mentioning THIS WEEK IN BOSTON when making purchases from advertisers.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Ethel Barrymore comes to the Hollis Street this week in two plays, "Alice-Sit-By-The-Fire," and "The Twelve Pound Look," both by Mr. Barrie.

"The Prince of Pilsen" makes its appearance again, and this time at the Majestic. This musical piece is ever popular.

"St. Elmo," is the offering at the Globe.

The Grand Opera House presents "Billy the Kid," another Western melodrama.

At the Boston Opera House, the Aborn English Opera Company appears in "Lucia."

BOSTON ARENA

Like every other frontier feature with the 101 Ranch Wild West which is appearing at the Boston Arena, St. Botolph Street and Massachusetts Avenue all this week, the "bucking" broncbos are the "real thing," in testimony which is offered the emergency hospital maintained with the big amusement institution. There is not a day in the season but that from one to half a dozen cowboys are temporary inmates as a result of their struggles with the equine desperadoes. Men of less rugged physique and trained endurance would never survive the fierce combats.

The 101 Ranch "buckers" are natural, irreclaimable fighters, and their savage and reckless efforts to throw their riders cannot be corrected. They may be temporarily conquered after a prolonged and often dangerous struggle, requiring extraordinary agility, skill and courage on the part of their riders, but with every effort to mount comes a renewal of the contest between stubbornness and instinct on the one side and brains and nerve on the other, and in it the nobler animal does not always win the spurs.

In the performance of the "bucking" broncbos and their cowboy riders it is noticed that, among the quadrupedal concentrations of chain lightning, no two resort to the same tactics of defence. One will not permit himself to be saddled and mounted before letting out the pent-up devilry with which his hide is stuffed. Another will quietly submit to being saddled, but that is his limit to sufferance. To still another the very sight of a saddle is a signal of war. This one will start off humping his head like a mad cat, and landing stiffly on all fours with the force of a pile driver. This one will lie down and stubbornly refuse to budge. still another will rear and fall backwards with such reckless fury as to sometimes beat out his brains. A fourth will kick, strike or bite, or all this and more too, with a savage viciousness rendering him more dangerous to a tyro than would be a hungry lion.

And these are but sample illustrations among innumerable insane efforts to escape the ignominy of bearing burdens. In some instances it is noted that the "bucker" seems intent upon injuring his rider only; in others that he aims to disable himself as well; again, that he is frantically bent upon committing suicide. He is a great natural actor in an equine and equestrian specialty, so full of fiery and furious vim that is well worth seeing a score of times and never loses intense interest.

The engagement of the 101 Ranch Wild West will close on Saturday evening, April 15. There are daily matinees.

Boston Arena

Peter Conklin

The Shakespearean Clown of the Old Time One Ring Circus at the Arena until further notice.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

Returning after a long absence, De Wolf Hopper appears this week at the Shubert in "A Matinee Idol," a musical play that gives the part of an actor of the old and showy school, so decayed in fortune that he must turn quack dentist. There are many pretty girls in the company, but no chorus, men. The supporting cast is headed by Louise Dresser.

Chauncy Olcott comes to the Boston in "Barry of Ballymore," which gives him the part of an Irish artist and many an Irish song to sing.

The Black Patti Musical Comedy Company in "A Trip to Africa," is the attraction at the Grand Opera House.

"Thais" is the offering by the Aborn English Opera Company at the Boston Opera House.

BOSTON ARENA

Commencing Monday, April 17th, and to be continued until further notice, there will be an Old Time One Ring Circus presented at the Boston Arena, at St. Botolph St. and Massachusetts Ave. The bill of attraction of the sawdust ring is a long and varied one, embracing some of the greatest acts ever presented in the Arena. There will be a real circus man who will discourse old time lively circus melodies, the funny clowns, thrilling and sensational performances, and plenty of that which goes to make what was frequently termed "atmosphere" in the days of the Red Wagon Shows.

Neither time or expense has been spared in order to make this circus revival successful. From our view point the price of admission will be nominal. The tournament will be given every evening at 8.15.

Also Matinee Wednesday and Saturday. The matinee given on April 19th will commence at 3 p. m., other matinees at 2.15 p. m.

Exhibition of Acquisitions from the Harvard University Museum f Fine Arts Expedition in Egypt. Private view on Monday, April 10.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to ortraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting repreenting the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently dded to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department f Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese aintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable tudies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical rt special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th entury B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both eing recent additions to the collection.

Boston Arena

Peter Conklin

The Shakespearean Clown of the Old Time One Ring Circus at the Arena until further notice.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Arcadians," returns to the Colonial this week with the players unchanged from last autumn except in the substitution of Josephine Hill for Connie Ediss as the parvenue matron. The piece is fanciful and amusing, and the songs were pleasantly written.

To the Hollis comes "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," the sweetly sentimental play that has pleased Bostonians on previous occasions. Miss Taliaferro continues to act Rebecca.

Another opportunity to see "The Virginian," is given at the Globe.

There is a reappearance of "Happy Hooligan," at the Grand Opera House.

"Il Trovatore," is the offering of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Boston Opera House.

BOSTON ARENA

Commencing Monday, April 24th, the second big week of the celebrated Old Time One Ring Circus is presented at the Boston Arena, at St. Botolph Street and Massachusetts Avenue. The bill of attraction of the sawdust ring is a long and varied one, embracing some of the greatest acts ever presented in the Arena. There will be a real circus man who will discourse old time lively circus melodies, the funny clowns, thrilling and sensational performances, and plenty of that which goes to make what was frequently termed "atmosphere" in the days of the Red Wagon Shows.

Neither time or expense has been spared in order to make this circus revival successful. From our view point the price of admission will be nominal. The tournament will be given every evening at 8:15.

Also Matinee Wednesday and Saturday. The matinee given on April 19th will commence at 3 p. m., other matinees at 2:15 p. m.

Exhibition of work by Boston artists.

Exhibition of Acquisitions from the Harvard University Museum f Fine Arts Expedition in Egypt. April 10th to May 1st.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to ortraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting repreenting the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently dded to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department f Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese aintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable tudies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical rt special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th entury B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both eing recent additions to the collection.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the first time on any stage, the Shubert this week presents "Ann Boyd," a play drawn from Will N. Harben's like-named novel of a woman who is isolated and persecuted for a fault, who nurses long her hope of revenge and then sacrifices it that she may save the daughter of her enemy from a like mistake.

Montgomry and Stone, return to the Boston with "The Old Town," the musical play in which they have been so well liked on previous presentation in this city.

The Grand Opera House offers "The Parish Priest," an Irish play of considerable merit.

At the Boston Opera House the Aborn Opera Company presents "La Boheme."

The Pops open in Symphony Hall on Monday evening for the usual season.

BOSTON ARENA

It will be a royal occasion at the Boston Arena, Wednesday and Thursday, May 10th and 11th, when the kings and queens of the Equine World prance and cavort for that greatest of virtues—sweet charity. While a number of horse shows have been held during the past it is intended that this first show in the Arena, a building splendidly adapted for the purpose, shall eclipse anything given in late years.

While the entire idea is to a certain extent impromptu so much interest has been manifested not only on the part of the horsemen, owners and those vitally concerned, but the social end as well, that a grand success both socially and financially seems assured.

Chester I. Campbell, whose success as the auto show promoter is well known, has volunteered his services, together with his large office force, towards making the event a conspicuous one and from every indication and the list of entries so far received it should round out the social season in the proverbial blaze of glory.

Miss Dorothy Forbes, Mrs. Rudolph L. Aggasez and Miss Alice Sargeant have personally interested themselves and are members of the Committee who will personally superintend the disbursement of the proceeds to the most deserving charities, full announcement of which is to be made later.

It is expected that over 500 entries will be made in the various classes and prominent owners in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore have been invited to compete.

It is also intended to offer several novelties that will be commended by horse lovers. The building will be beautifully decorated for the occasion and the best of musical offerings. Full announcement will appear in daily papers concerning all details.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Exhibition of work by Boston artists.

Exhibition of Acquisitions from the Harvard University Museum Fine Arts Expedition in Egypt. April 10th to May 1st.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both having recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

BOSTON ARENA

It will be a royal occasion at the Boston Arena, Wednesday and Thursday, May 10th and 11th, when the kings and queens of the Equine World prance and cavort for that greatest of virtues—sweet charity. While a number of horse shows have been held during the past it is intended that this first show in the Arena, a building splendidly adapted for the purpose, shall eclipse anything given in late years.

While the entire idea is to a certain extent impromptu so much interest has been manifested not only on the part of the horsemen, owners and those vitally concerned, but the social end as well, that a grand success both socially and financially seems assured.

Chester I. Campbell, whose success as the auto show promoter is well known, has volunteered his services, together with his large office force, towards making the event a conspicuous one and from every indication and the list of entries so far received it should round out the social season in the proverbial blaze of glory.

Miss Dorothy Forbes, Mrs. Rudolph L. Aggasez and Miss Alice Sargeant have personally interested themselves and are members of the Committee who will personally superintend the disbursement of the proceeds to the most deserving charities, full announcement of which is to be made later.

It is expected that over 500 entries will be made in the various classes and prominent owners in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore have been invited to compete.

It is also intended to offer several novelties that will be commended by horse lovers. The building will be beautifully decorated for the occasion and the best of musical offerings. Full announcement will appear in daily papers concerning all details.

"The Merchant of Venice," is revived this week at the Castle Square by the John Craig Stock Company.

To the Grand Opera House comes "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie," a comedy drama of Kentucky.

Andrew Mack is a feature of the vaudeville bill at B. F. Keith's.

"Carmen," is given at the Boston Opera House.

ART EXHIBITIONS

New Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The Fenway. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission 25c. The Museum contains collections illustrating the arts of Egypt, Greece, Rome, the Orient, and modern Europe and America, together with a large collection of reproductions.

Exhibition of Acquisitions from the Harvard University Museum of Fine Arts Expedition in Egypt. April 10th to May 10th.

Among recent acquisitions attention may be particularly called to portraits by Goya and Maes, and to a Spanish primitive painting representing the Coronation of the Virgin. Modern paintings recently added to the collection are Mary Cassatt's "At the Opera;" Hunt's "Pine Woods at Magnolia;" and Redfield's "Ravine." The Department of Chinese and Japanese Art is now showing a series of Japanese paintings of the 18th and 19th centuries, including some remarkable studies of animal life and landscape. In the Department of Classical Art special mention is due to an important marble relief of the 5th century B. C., and to a marble head in the style of Praxiteles, both being recent additions to the collection.

Germanic Museum, junction Broadway and Cambridge Street, Cambridge. Open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Admission free. Reproductions of masterpieces by noted sculptors of Germany, formed through basis of Prince Henry's visit, March 6, 1902.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

For the first time on any stage, "Judy O'Hara," comes this week to e Hollis Street. Judy is a slip of a girl who lives with her dear old ther, a lovable Catholic priest, and some adorable house servants, at the nost ruined Clanfergus castle in Ireland during the reign of Queen ne of England, when the Stuarts were waiting to take possession of the rone. Her knowledge of the world is limited, but she has a heart of ld and courage to spare. Through the death of an uncle in India she bemes possessed of a colossal fortune and when she becomes an orphan rd Saxton, an ardent adherent of Queen Anne is appointed her guardian.

Later she falls in love with Sir Miles Prendegast, a soldier of fortune James Stuart's cause, and carries secret messages to James Stuart disised as a boy. Her escapades are many until she retires to a married ppiness at Clanfergus with her soldier sweetheart.

There is a revival of "A Country Girl," at the Tremont by a company 75, assisted by an orchestra of 26 players. Grace Freeman, well reembered in the role of Marjorie, reappears in that part, with her "Coo!" ng and the dainty "Boy and Girl" duet with Geoffrey, played by Melville ewart. "Under the Deodar," full of eastern languor, will be sung by the incess (Genevieve Finlay). Barry, played by John Slavin, does a lot of ork in this piece, with his "Yo ho! Little Girls!" and "Two Little nicks," a duet with Sophie (Laura Jaffrey), and the "Quarelling Duet." he ponderous "Rajah of Bhong" supplies the oriental atmosphere, and his ng "Peace! Peace!" is one of the whistle compellers.

At the Majestic, Lindsay Morison's Stock Company opens a summer ason with "The Girl of the Golden West." Wilson Melrose and Eleanor rdon are strong features here. Coupled with a good show and a popular nager the Majestic should do a big business for the engagement.

The Castle Square offers "The White Sister," an emotional play that s been seen in Boston at other times.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

A novelty musical play entitled, "Dr. DeLuxe," from the Knickerbocker, New York, opens this week at the Colonial. Ralph Herz heads the company. The piece was written by the composer of "Madame Sherry" and the "Three Twins."

At the Castle Square the John Craig Stock Co. offers "The Rivals."

The Lindsay Morison Stock Company presents "The Man of the Hour," at the Majestic.

Irene Franklin is a feature of the vaudeville program at Keith's. Norumbega Park opens Sunday, May 21, for the season.

When the average amusement seeker stops to consider that a vaudeville House playing to 75,000 people each and every week for a run of more than a year, it comes pretty near stamping the House, as the best place to visit for a first-class show. The Orpheum Theatre on Washington and Tremont Streets, has been doing this remarkable business for the past year. The Vaudeville is of the best that money can secure, and the Motion Pictures are the latest made. See the best acts on the outside cover of this magazine.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

The vast crowds that have attended the Orpheum Theatre the past week have exceeded those of the past ten years for the same season of the year. The people who reside in and around Boston know, and the sightseer must know, that when the Illuminated Sign on the front of the Theatre reads LOEW'S So and So, that a first-class show is going on, comprising the best American and European Vaudeville Acts coupled with the latest achievements of the Motion Picture World of both Foreign and American manufacture.

Loew's Boston House, the Orpheum, is blessed with a permanent stellar attraction, that of Chas. Frank's Orchestra. Mr. Frank is known from coast to coast as the Beau Brummell of all Musical Directors, having the honor and distinction of being chosen from the Morris Circuit to conduct the different orchestras for the celebrated Scotch comedian, Harry Lauder, when he made his phenomenal American tour of some thirty odd weeks, visiting every American and a few of the larger Canadian cities. (See the advertised show this week in this magazine.)

Valeska Suratt in a new musical play, "The Red Rose," opens this week at the Tremont. Alexander Clark is in the cast and there is a chorus of fifty pretty girls.

"The Warrens of Virginia," has the attention of the Lindsay Morison Stock Company at the Majestic.

The John Craig Stock Company at the Castle Square offers "A Gentleman From Mississippi."

THINGS WORTH SEEING

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

The vast crowds that have attended the Orpheum Theatre the past eek have exceeded those of the past ten years for the same season f the year. The people who reside in and around Boston know, and e sightseer must know, that when the Illuminated Sign on the front the Theatre reads LOEW'S So and So, that a first-class show is ing on, comprising the best American and European Vaudeville cts coupled with the latest achievements of the Motion Picture orld of both Foreign and American manufacture.

Loew's Boston House, the Orpheum, is blessed with a permanent llar attraction, that of Chas. Frank's Orchestra. Mr. Frank is own from coast to coast as the Beau Brummell of all Musical Di ctors, having the honor and distinction of being chosen from the orris Circuit to conduct the different orchestras for the celebrated otch comedian, Harry Lauder, when he made his phenomenal nerican tour of some thirty odd weeks, visiting every American d a few of the larger Canadian cities. (See the advertised show is week in this magazine.)

"Little Lord Fauntleroy," is revived this week at the Castle uare by the John Craig Stock Company. The title role is in the nds of Miss Henrietta McDaniel who returns to the company for ts special purpose. Few plays have made so strong an appeal to t human heart as Mrs. Burnett's story of the delightful little Ameri n boy who became an English lord.

The Lindsay Morison Stock Company at the Majestic offers "The orus Lady," with Miss Eleanor Gordon in the part of Patricia Brien, Rose Stahl's old role. The company also includes Mrs. eorge A. Hibbard, wife of the late mayor of the city.

"The Friars," who are touring the country, appear at the Boston eatre on Wednesday for performances afternoon and evening.

Norumbega Park is attracting many visitors who are pleased wh the numerous new features.

"Makers and Finders of the Unusual"

If you delight in new and beautiful things in jewelry and silver, you will be repaid by a visit to Stowell's.

Our store is the mecca for lovers of things unusual and out of the ordinary in silverware and jewelry. A critical and comprehensive selection from best manufacturers all over the world makes ours the most interesting store of its kind in Boston.

Of especial present interest are the new corals, Armenian jewelry, orivit ware, and Italian statuary in the new tinted effects.

The illustration shows a quaint Armenian necklace of antique finish with semi-precious stones.

"Makers and Finders of the Unusual"

If you delight in new and beautiful things in jewelry and silver, you will be repaid by a visit to Stowell's.

Our store is the mecca for lovers of things unusual and out of the ordinary in silverware and jewelry. A critical and comprehensive selection from best manufacturers all over the world makes ours the most interesting store of its kind in Boston.

Of especial present interest are the new corals, Armenian jewelry, orivit ware, and Italian statuary in the new tinted effects.

The illustration shows a quaint Armenian necklace of antique finish with semi-precious stones.

You will confer a favor by mentioning THIS WEEK IN BOSTON when making purchases from advertisers.

THINGS WORTH SEEING

"The Genius," is the offering this week at the Castle Square by ıe John Craig Stock Company.

All the summer gardens are now in full swing for the season. any features entirely new to this vicinity are seen at Paragon, orumbega and Lexington Parks.

Howell Hansel, one of the greatest favorite in Stock Dramatic roductions, is playing the leading role in "The Genius," at the astle Square Theatre this week. Mr. Hansel has been absent pro ssionally from this city for two seasons, and to use a (Geo. Cohen xpression) "They are hungry for him." It will be well worth the ice of admission to see the ovation this prime favorite will receive m his countless admirers. In Philadelphia where Mr Hansel has en playing the past two seasons, the critics say that this piece is the st he has ever played, and that is saying much as he has many big uccesses to his credit, in fact, he gives a good, if not a better per rmance than Mr. Nat Goodwin, and this "Genius" was supposed to his masterpiece. Strangers as well as Bostonians will profit much they enjoy good theatricals by visiting the Castle Square this week. ake any Tremont St. car and stop at the Theatre

"Makers and Finders of the Unusual"

When seeing Boston be sure and visit Stowell's—you will find it a place of real interest.

Our specialty is the making and finding of new and beautiful things in diamonds, watches, jewelry, silverware, clocks, cut-glass, china, statuary and novelties. There is no other store just like it in Boston.

This week we are showing something new and interesting in sabertache and street bags in fine leather. Also mesh bags in gold, gold plate, silver, gun metal and beads. Travelling bags plain or fitted.

The illustration shows a fine envelope bag in Persian leather. New and dainty. Price $5.
